A Scented Cocktail

In celebration of its 90th birthday, the Prince de Galles hotel has just released a collection of perfumes that have inspired the hotel bar's new cocktail menu. Barman Florian Thireau and nose Jean-Charles Sommerard have worked together to bring patrons a novel way in enjoying a cocktail, starting with an olfactory invitation. Guests are invited to smell the fragrances, decide which is their favourite, and a cocktail inspired by the scent is then served up to be admired by all the senses. An original way to choose a cocktail and a fabulous way to celebrate a huge milestone. - S.I.
